1. Opening and Purpose of the Meeting

The meeting was organized to review the progress of institutional development at Preah Sihamoniraja Buddhist University (PSBU) and to discuss key priorities for continued academic and administrative improvement. The meeting was chaired by H.E. Ngoun Sdechpheakdey, Secretary of State of the Ministry of Cult and Religion in charge of PSBU, reflecting the University's commitment to strong leadership and effective institutional oversight. The discussion provided an opportunity for university management and relevant officials to review ongoing activities, identify challenges and strengthen coordination among academic and administrative units. Participants emphasized the importance of systematic planning, effective communication, clear responsibilities and regular monitoring to ensure that institutional activities support PSBU's mission and long-term development objectives.

2. Review of Institutional Development Priorities and Progress

The meeting reviewed current institutional priorities and progress across academic, administrative and supporting areas. Participants discussed the importance of ensuring that individual departmental activities remain aligned with the University's overall development direction.

Attention was given to identifying achievements, challenges and areas requiring further management support. The discussion emphasized the need for departments to provide timely information and progress reports and to maintain appropriate documentation of institutional activities. Participants agreed that continuous leadership review is necessary to ensure effective implementation of institutional priorities and to identify areas requiring additional action or coordination.

3. Strengthening Academic Quality and Staff Development

Academic quality and staff development were identified as important priorities for PSBU's continued institutional improvement. Participants discussed the need to strengthen teaching and learning practices, academic programmes and professional development opportunities for academic staff. The meeting emphasized the role of quality assurance in monitoring academic performance, collecting evidence and supporting continuous improvement. Participants encouraged academic units to provide staff with opportunities for training, knowledge sharing and professional development. The discussion also highlighted the importance of maintaining appropriate academic support for students and ensuring that teaching practices respond to contemporary educational needs. Strengthening academic quality was considered essential for improving student learning outcomes and enhancing PSBU's institutional reputation.

4. Institutional Governance, Administration and Accountability

The meeting reviewed PSBU's ongoing efforts to strengthen the quality of education and training for monks and students. H.E. Nguon Sdechpheakdey highlighted the importance of qualified lecturers, effective teaching methodologies, academic discipline, and continuous professional development. His Venerable Sumedhavong Dr. Sok Bunthoeun appreciated the university's progress and encouraged management, monastic officials, civil servants, staff, and lecturers to further strengthen their professional responsibilities, teaching approaches, and commitment to educational excellence.

5. International Cooperation, Research and Institutional Engagement

Participants discussed the importance of international cooperation, research and external institutional engagement in supporting PSBU's development. International partnerships were recognized as valuable opportunities for academic exchange, research collaboration, professional development and institutional visibility. The meeting encouraged relevant units to maintain communication with external partners and explore opportunities for meaningful cooperation in education and research. Participants also discussed strengthening research activities and encouraging academic staff and students to participate in conferences, seminars, collaborative research and knowledge-sharing programmes. The meeting emphasized that international and research activities should be aligned with PSBU's institutional priorities and properly documented to demonstrate their outcomes and contribution to university development.

6. Student Development and Support Services

Student development and support were also discussed as important components of institutional development. Participants emphasized the need to provide students with appropriate academic guidance, career development opportunities and activities that strengthen professional and transferable skills. The meeting highlighted the importance of responding to student needs and strengthening communication between students and responsible university units. Participants encouraged relevant departments to coordinate student development activities and monitor their effectiveness. The discussion also recognized that quality student support contributes to student satisfaction, academic achievement and graduate employability, and therefore should remain an important priority within the University's institutional development plans.

7. Decisions and Follow-up Actions

Following the discussion, the management agreed to continue strengthening institutional coordination, academic quality, governance and student support. Relevant departments were encouraged to develop follow-up actions based on the priorities discussed and provide progress updates to university management. Academic units were requested to continue improving teaching quality and staff development, while administrative offices were encouraged to strengthen documentation, reporting and accountability. Relevant units responsible for international cooperation and research were encouraged to maintain external partnerships and identify opportunities for collaborative activities. The meeting further emphasized that institutional activities should have clearly assigned responsibilities, appropriate timelines and regular monitoring. Proper documentation of meetings, activities, decisions and outcomes was also emphasized as an important part of institutional accountability and quality assurance.

8. Closing

The meeting concluded with a shared commitment among PSBU leadership, academic staff and administrative officials to strengthen institutional governance and promote continuous improvement. H.E. Ngoun Sdechpheakdey emphasized the importance of effective coordination, responsible implementation and continued institutional development. Participants reaffirmed PSBU's commitment to improving academic quality, strengthening governance and administration, expanding research and international cooperation, and providing effective support for students. The meeting provided a platform for reviewing institutional priorities and ensuring that future activities remain aligned with PSBU's mission and long-term development objectives.
